

to the full extent required by law, the confidentiality of the information disclosed during mediation.

- Mediation is voluntary, and may be terminated at any time by a party or the mediator. Although in court-referred mediation the parties may be ordered to attend a mediation session, any agreement is entirely voluntary. In the absence of agreement, the parties retain their right to take the dispute before a judge or jury.

- Mediation costs may be significantly less than taking a case to court, especially if mediation is chosen prior to filing a lawsuit.
